

LeTonya Clark, CPC
Strategist, Educator, Consultant, High-Impact Coach

LeTonya is an award winning professional with more than two decades of extensive experience working across multiple industry sectors. Her expertise is focused on program management, workforce development, organizational performance improvement, high-impact coaching, and competency-based leadership development (with an emphasis on problem-solving, decision-making, strategic visioning, emotional intelligence, and self-efficacy). She designs tailored leadership and professional development systems that support organizational change initiatives and long-term effectiveness. Her experience has taken her to CEOs, presidents of organizations, and individuals seeking to improve their personal and professional lives. She has been a talk-radio guest and the empowerment speaker for a variety of local and national conferences. In addition, she coaches individuals who feel "stuck" and need guidance in unearthing answers to questions about how to identify and go about meeting goals. To many she is a coach, a mentor, and advisor.

She is Founder and Principal Consultant of Altitude Consulting and Coaching LLC, (www.AltitudeCandC.com) an empowerment company specializing in strengthening leadership teams and promoting personal and professional development through education, motivation and coaching. She is also Founder of L.E.A.D. Ministries (www.LEAD-Ministries.org), a Christian faith-based teaching and training organization.

She is an Adjunct Professor at Chestnut Hill College's School of Continuing and Professional Studies, where she designs curriculum and instruct courses in organizational dynamics, organizational theory and behavior, communications, strategic management, and employee training and development. She is also Itinerant Faculty for Montgomery County Community College's Workforce Development Center, where she develops leadership, management, and professional development programs to individuals, businesses and organizations in the Montgomery County, Pennsylvania area.

She holds a Master of Science degree in Organizational Development and Leadership and a Bachelor of Arts degree in English, both from Saint Joseph's University in Philadelphia, PA. She is a Certified Professional Coach (CPC), holds certifications in Christian Counseling and 12-Steps Addictions Counseling. She is an ordained minister and a community level Chaplain.
